User story for Alex:

• As an administrator, Alex wants to be able to update population information for countries and cities, so that the data is accurate and up to date.

• As an administrator, Alex wants to be able to add new countries and cities to the database, so that the website has comprehensive coverage.

• As an administrator, Alex wants to be able to view and analyse population data trends, so that he can make informed decisions about future updates to the website.

• As an administrator, Alex wants to be able to export population data reports for internal use, so that he can share information with colleagues and stakeholders.